

Amazon Web Services (AWS) announces strategic collaboration with Novartis to accelerate digital transformation of its business operations

Dec 04, 2019

On Wednesday December 4, 2019 Amazon Web Services announced a strategic collaboration with Novartis that will leverage AWS's broadest portfolio of cloud services to build an enterprise-wide data and analytics platform that will transform business operations. Starting within Novartis Technical Operations, this multiyear alliance aims to put real-time analytics in the hands of associates, empowering them to make better business decisions and increase efficiencies across manufacturing processes and supply chain.

Accelerating our digital transformation with AWS

Novartis Chief Digital Officer, Bertrand Bodson, CIO, Scott Sandschafer and Amit Nastik share how the collaboration with AWS will help transform business operations at Novartis, starting within our Technical Operations organization.
